ABOUT INDUSTRIAL CAMERA MOUNT

SKU RB_KH1

The industrial mount for IP67 camera protection housings impresses with its high stability, durability, and flexible adjustment options. Made of robust steel and finished with a resistant powder coating, the mount is ideal for use in industrial environments and outdoors.

Thanks to its two-axis adjustability, the camera protection housing can be precisely aligned in two directions. Multiple mounting screws ensure secure fastening and guarantee a permanently stable position – even in the event of vibrations or mechanical stress. The bracket is designed for reliable operation in demanding environmental conditions and is the ideal complement to the IP67 camera protection housing. It enables easy installation and flexible adaptation to different installation requirements in industrial, surveillance, and outdoor applications.
